Gentlemen:

We first became acquainted with Krische Construction through an open bid process to remodel our new offices from the current use of a motel. In a competitive manner Krische was selected. We were pleased and fortunate that this was the case.

The numerous hidden and unanticipated conditions caused minor problems for their project manager Joe Black. He maintained the schedule and kept the sub-contractors concentrating on the tasks as they developed.

The result was a project, on time and within the budget.

We were so impressed with their professionalism that when our 50 unit senior apartment complex was proposed, we suggested to our Board of Directors that they be brought in during the design phase to review and help value engineer the project.

We would recommend Mark Pilkington, Dan Krische and their staff for any of your construction needs.

Respectfully

Michael Reis, Longmont Housing Authority, Executive Director
