Krische Construction, Inc.

We at Summit Bank & Trust have long known about Krische Construction, Inc.'s reputation as a quality builder who has been successful in the front-range and other markets over an extended period of time.

That in and of itself, provides some separation from Krische Construction, Inc. and their competitors. But what puts Krische miles ahead from everyone else in my opinion, is their depth of character. While it is almost certain that virtually any contractor can construct a bank building or other edifice, but can they endear themselves to the employees of the bank? My experience tells me others simply cannot compete with Krische because they lack the personal touch that Krische focuses on.

It goes without mentioning Krische's quality workmanship and ability to manage a difficult budget without delays. But the staff at Summit Bank & Trust constantly shared positive comments to me regarding their treatment by the Krische staff. Everyone from Dan Krische, Joe Black, Scott Smith, and all the sub-contractors worked very well with everyone involved. Additionally, they showed great respect to all of us resulting in Krische Construction building another bank for Summit Bank & Trust. As Summit Bank & Trust grows and continues to build financial institutions – Krische Construction, Inc. will be the General Contractors for those projects.
